“ We would like Mary's family to know how much we enjoyed visiting with her each time we went to Butterfield. Mary and our mother, Mary Ogden lived just across the hall from each other in the apartment complex. They moved to the health care unit not too far apart from each other and shared a room during the remodel. Your Mary was sharp in mind. Our Mary's was failing. But they understood each other and were great companions. Your Mary used to keep a close eye on ours, often helping her find things our Mary would misplace. We enjoyed eating with the two of them. Your Mary always had a good sense of humor and a wonderful smile. We will miss seeing that smile and her greeting in future visits. Blessings to all of her family.
